Pharmacy: Plain & Fancy

The location of this year's Annual Conference, Lancaster County, offers a rich historical background of the Amish culture known for its simple living, plain dress, and resistance of modern conveniences. While our conference locale is recognized for its traditional ways, the profession of pharmacy is anything but, as it has matured into a clinical profession and transformed from a product-oriented to a patient-oriented profession. We will celebrate the continual progression of pharmacy as it has moved from plain to fancy. Save the date and make sure to join us this fall for PPA's 2009 Annual Conference!
